SAYS RURAL BOY EXCELS CITY LAD

Former Has God's Playground, Latter the Devil's, Asserts O. H. Benson.

TALKS BEFORE MOTHERS

Mme. Kahn Tells Congress Persians Are Strong Because of Life in Open.

The country youth receives a practical training far superior to that afforded the city boy, in the opinion of O. H. Benson, of the club work branch of the Department of Agriculture. He expressed this belief in an address at the afternoon session of the first State convention of the Congress of Mothers by the District at the Raleigh Hotel yesterday.

"The country boy is reared on a playground made by God, while the city boy has only the playground of man, and in some cases of the devil," said the speaker.

Tells of Persian People.

Mme. Ali Kuli Khan, wife of the Persian charge d'affaires, related the history and characteristics of the Persian people, whom she said are a vigorous people because much of their life is spent in the open. She declared respect for elders is the chief characteristic of the Persian child. An illustrated lecture on the work of mothercraft schools was delivered by Miss Mary L. Reed, interested in such schools in New York City.

"In Washington our first need is a compulsory education law, by which children under 16 either must be in school or at work," said Stephen Kramer, assistant superintendent of schools in the District. A campaign for the education of employers and vocational schools was urged by Mr. Kramer. He asked the congress to emphasize the following as the needs of the school of the future:

The teaching of social honesty; teaching boys that life insurance is needful; teaching girls not to spend more than a certain part of an income, and thereby save offhand; teaching girls the values of foods and clothes, as well as cooking, and the utilization of the schools for social center purposes.

Superintendent of Schools Thurston declared it was the hope of his officials to give Washington the model school system of the nation. "We have here all the elements of a State school system, including suburban and rural schools, and therefore it is our motive to build a system that will be a model for the States."

Maryland Educator Speaks.

The need for teaching public speaking in the public schools was urged by Prof. Charles S. Richardson, of the Maryland Agricultural College. A musical program was furnished by Mrs. George Metcalf, Miss Sylvia Metcalf, Miss Emma M. C. Bender, and Mrs. Carl F. Stuhler.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming election of a president for the congress. Opposition is said to be gathering against Mrs. Giles S. Rafter, a candidate, because it has been rumored that she is a candidate for a position on the Board of Education, to fill the place of Mrs. Susie R. Rhodes, whose term expires June 20. Mrs. Rafter denies she is a candidate for Mrs. Rhodes' position. She declared yesterday that Mrs. Rhodes is her personal friend and that she would be glad to see her remain.

probably will be made the latter part of this week. It was announced yesterday.

Among witnesses to be questioned tomorrow and Tuesday will be Harry Kaufman, representing the Harry Kaufman Clothing Company, of this city, whose bid was rejected in 1906 in spite of its being the lowest received; Julius L. Peyer, Mr. Kaufman's counsel, and a representative from the Peckheimer Sons, of Cincinnati, to which firm the 1906 contract was granted. The Cincinnati witness will arrive early this week.

The committee is composed of Capt. Roger G. Powell, assistant engineer commissioner; Daniel J. Donovan, deputy auditor, and Roger G. Whiteford, assistant corporation counsel.

HUNT KILLED ACCIDENTALLY.

Policeman's Body Will Be Buried at Marshall, Va.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of William M. Hunt, a policeman of the Third police station, who was found dead in the bathroom of his apartment at 246 K street northwest on Friday. Testimony was brought out showing that the water heater, from which the carbon monoxide issued, causing the death, had not been cleaned in seven years. Burial will be in Hunt's former home in Marshall, Va., with Masonic rites.

Would you accept a Barbary stallion as a gift?

The Sultan of Morocco once gave to an American diplomat a Barbary Stallion.

He was beautiful—and on state occasions made a great showing.

But he was not practical for either driving or riding. The diplomat and his family wanted a horse to use, not for show.

Hence his "up-keep" was exorbitant.

In our opinion there's a great motor car lesson in this diplomat's experience.

Upkeep is an important thing to look into, whether you are buying a motor car for yourself or as a gift for someone else.

Any owner can tell you why his Light Six Chalmers Motor Car at $1650 is no Barbary stallion.

Right on First Cost
As a matter of fact the first cost of a Chalmers Light Six-48 is slightly higher than some other "light sixes."

But the owner will claim—and be able to prove—a lower monthly price.

And the monthly price you pay—the upkeep cost for service—is the real cost of any automobile.

From its owners—the men who pay the bills—the Chalmers Light Six-48 has won the name of "the economical car."

Right on Gas and Oil
There are some light sixes equally as sparing in gasoline consumption as the Chalmers Light Six-48.

But we can dismiss the question of possible gasoline economy for there isn't more than $20 to $25 difference between the gasoline bills for a whole season of any two light sixes on the market.

Oil expense is the smallest item in your up-keep cost. One gallon will last for hundreds of miles.

Right on Economy
—and that is what keeps the monthly cost so low. But the owner of the Chalmers Light Six-48 will tell you that his car is practically free from repair expense.

Charges for repairs and adjustments are the heaviest expenses a car can incur.

Besides, the car that makes the most frequent trips to the repair shop is in the owner's service least.

The Chalmers Light Six-48 has earned its title of the "Economy" car solely on its ability to "stay put"—to "stand up" and give continuously efficient service under the hardest conditions.

Right on Appearance
In addition to its low operative cost this car possesses another distinguishing feature.

And that is—real beauty—the true beauty that comes from correct design and infinite care in the big and little details of finish and appointment.

The Chalmers Light Six-48 is now at our show rooms. Come and see it personally.

It is the $1650 car—the New Six-48 is $1400 and the Master Six-54 is $2400.

In other parts of the country the weather will be fair Sunday and Monday.

SCHOOLMATES DIE AT FRONT.

George Howard Gets Death Notice in Every Mail from England.

George Howard, treasurer of the National Savings and Trust Company, attended school when a youth at Downside, England. The school maintains a St. Gregory society, in which are enrolled all the graduates of the institution, and whenever a member dies a mortuary card is sent to the other members.

In the past, Mr. Howard has been receiving several of these cards a year. But since the war began the cards have been coming in so fast that his office is commencing to look like a morgue. Last week he received a packet of more than a dozen cards. He remembers many of the deceased very well.
